Important Health Warning About Playing Video Games

Photosensitive seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people who have no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause these "photosensitive epileptic seizures" while watching video games.

These seizures may have a variety of symptoms, including lightheadedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, or momentary loss of awareness. Seizures may also cause loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects.

Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents should watch for or ask their children about the above symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely than adults to experience these seizures. The risk of photosensitive epileptic seizures may be reduced by taking the following precautions: Sit farther from the screen; use a smaller screen; play in a well-lit room; do not play when you are drowsy or fatigued.

If you or any of your relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a doctor before playing.

ESRB Game Ratings

The Entertainment Software Rating Board (ESRB) ratings are designed to provide consumers, especially parents, with concise, impartial guidance about the age-appropriateness and content of computer and video games. This information can help consumers make informed purchase decisions about which games they deem suitable for their children and families.

ESRB ratings have two equal parts:

- Rating Symbols suggest age appropriateness for the game. These symbols appear on the front of virtually every game box available for retail sale or rental in the United States and Canada.
- Content Descriptors indicate elements in a game that may have triggered a particular rating and/or may be of interest or concern. The descriptors appear on the back of the box next to the rating symbol.

For more information, visit www.ESRB.org.

DAMAGE SYSTEM

When Bond takes damage from enemy fire, a red damage indicator will appear on screen and show the degree of damage taken along with the direction the fire is coming from. The more intense the red damage indicator, the greater the degree of damage being taken. If Bond can find cover and avoid enemy fire, he will eventually recover and be able to continue at full strength.

TAKEDOWN

Bond can perform devastating Takedowns that effectively neutralize his intended target. To perform a Takedown, get in close to an enemy and press X when the Takedown prompt appears on screen.

FOCUS AIM

For each Takedown, Bond increases the Focus Meter, allowing him to perform deadly accurate shots. The Focus Meter fills up to a maximum of three shots. When Bond has more than one Focus Aim, he is able to chain hits together.

SMARTPHONE

Bond has a unique Smartphone that allows him to hack terminals and cameras, track enemies, download intel, locate important objects and identify mission objectives. During missions, keep an eye out for the AR Node Proximity Indicator - when Bond nears a hackable AR Node, the AR Node Proximity Indicator appears on the HUD. When at just the right proximity to the AR Node, the Smartphone will display a prompt; use D-pad UP to hack the AR Node.
