

Rock Challenge

Loading the Game

Insert the Rock Challenge disk into the internal drive when workbench is requested. The program will display a title screen while it loads.

Entering Player Names

When the Rock Challenge play screen is displayed, click on any of the four player score boxes to set the players' names. A window containing current names will appear a few seconds later. Click on a name area and enter the player's name followed by RETURN.

Repeat this procedure for the remaining players (up to four). Press ESC to exit.

Playing the Game

The game begins with player 1. Using the mouse, select a question under the desired category and difficulty level (selecting a question in the WILD value will choose a question from one of the three difficulty levels and randomly choose a point value). The question appears with four multiple choice answers and PASS. Click on A, B, C or D if you think you know the correct answer. If the selected answer is correct, you are awarded the point value of the question. If you select the wrong answer, you receive no points and the point value of the question is reduced. Clicking on PASS, eliminates the question without giving the player any points.

The turn is then passed to the next player and play continues until 15 of the 20 questions have been eliminated. At this point the round is over and another 20 new questions are displayed and the next round begins. After four rounds, a bonus time-limited round is played. In this round each player has 15 seconds to answer a question after it has been selected. Correct answers are rewarded with double the displayed point value.

The End of the Game

A game may be aborted by pressing the ESC key twice.

The game is over when one player answers three questions correctly in each of the five categories. At this point, whoever has the highest score is declared the winner and if the score is high enough, the player may enter his name into the high score list.